“can you guarantee that it will be safe?”

“if an underpass can still be built, then this is okay for the short term”

“I am okay with the Council saving money, but it will make the traffic worse”

“I am not convinced it will work”

“while the previously proposed underpass was the ideal solution for safe crossing, I accept that the proposed at-grade crossing solution will provide a higher level of safety for pedestrians and cyclists than what is currently in place”

“I prefer the underpass, but if the crossing is safe I’m okay with it”

Underpass may be removed from Richmond intersection plans

Cherie Sivignon · 10:57, Nov 05 2019

.....was unimpressed.

.....described the intersection as "a little bit of a dog's breakfast".

.....he worried that some school pupils might wander over the raised crossings at will and asked if signals had been considered so they could bank up rather than cross continuously "like a herd of cows".

The underpass option had been considered "for a number of years and it hasn't really gone anywhere because of the challenges around funding so we have to move to something else in my opinion"
